2009 CoachesCanada Canadian Coach of the Year

Carollyne Conlinn, MBA, MPH, MCC, Vancouver, BC

Carollyne is an international executive coach who integrates entrepreneurial leadership with 30 years in Fortune 500 companies. Her coaching programs create profound change in individuals and organizations. Her Exceleator Coaching System™ has become the core curriculum for the Graduate Executive Coaching program at Royal Roads University, and she has personally taught hundreds of exceptional Canadian executive coaches. Her Great Question Game™ which introduces groups to coaching has been very popular with managers and business leaders. Carollyne's infectious enthusiasm draws on a deep spiritual spring that supported her recovery from cancer and continues to bless her life today.

Bob Hancox, B.Ed., CPCC, Nanaimo, BC

Bob is focused on his life's mission to strengthen leaders. His entire professional life has been devoted to designing, developing and implementing programs that help people develop their authentic leadership abilities. In the process Bob himself has grown, from an expert in organizational design, to a successful certified professional coach. Today he is a partner, walking alongside global leaders in business, the church and government.

Bob Hancox is a creator of Coaching Conversations™, a program which grows organizational leaders by transforming the quality of their conversations, bringing the extraordinary benefits of coach-like leadership into companies around the world. Bob is now bringing Coaching Conversations™ to India and China.

Garry Schleifer, CPCC, PCC, Toronto, ON

Garry Schleifer is a corporate and leadership coach with over 18 years of experience as a senior executive and business visionary. Former President of the Toronto ICF, he currently sits on the International Coach Federation Board of directors and is also President of Concept Synoptic Inc.

Garry applies a signature approach of "Ruthless Compassion" when helping senior executives boost personal and professional performance to higher levels. His approach recognizes that challenging goals must be set and adhered to-but always with an innate sensitivity, good humour and a non-judgmental attitude. Garry is the co-founder of choice, the magazine for professional coaching worldwide.
